Auto Thieves Raid Garage in Lyndonville

is believed very improbable that any member of the party of young men owned this car. It is a theory of the police that this car was stolen from Quebec City or near there and was driven into the States Sunday night. Authorities along the border do not have car registration books similar to those issued in Vermont and the cars for Quebec province are registered at Quebec. The authorities there have been notified regarding the present whereabouts of the Hudson car bearing the Quebec number 270. The car is a handsome new one with a black body and a blue stripe around the tonneau. The thieves may retrace their tracks after entering Canada and double back into the States so that authorities along the entire border have been notified to be on the watch for the stolen Studebaker car.

Locate Stolen Car in Montreal

One of the men identified with the break at the Economy Garage in Lyndonville and the theft of a Studebaker car, is believed to have been located in Montreal and is being held there for identification. Deputy Sheriff M. C. Garfield went over the ground in Orleans county today with detectives from Quebec trailing the course of the Hudson car which was stolen from Quebec Sunday night. Sheriff Worthen has gone to Montreal to take charge of the search for five men who are believed implicated in the Lyndonville garage break. The Studebaker car which was stolen has been located in a garage at Montreal and will be returned to its owner.
